OPERATOR'S NOTE

I studied software engineering at ITC HCMC, then spent two years building an online shop — while running my own Shopee and TikTok store on the side. Since then I have built the internal systems pharmacies, factories and clinics use all day at work. I care most about the unglamorous parts: validation, empty states, and the error screen on a slow connection at the end of a shift. That is where internal tools win or lose the people who use them.
